

Biography Sean Swarner – short version

Sean Swarner was voted one of the top eight most inspirational people of all time. He is the only person in history to have accomplished what he has and inspires millions around the world.

Sean's story is not just about surviving cancer, it's about persistence, determination, and the relatable common thread of overcoming obstacles in order to achieve success.

With only one functioning lung, a prognosis of fourteen days to live, and being in a medically-induced coma for a year, Sean Swarner is the first cancer survivor to stand on top of Mt. Everest. He has broken through human limitations in order to redefine the way the world views success.

After cresting the summit of the highest mountain on earth, Sean decided to Keep Climbing and has since topped the highest peaks in Africa, Europe, South America, Australia, Antarctica, and North America, thus completing the "7-Summits". In January, he crossed Antarctica, battling negative eighty degree temperatures to reach the South Pole.

As Sean continues to defy the odds, test his own endurance and inspire and motivate people around the world, he shares his message of healing, hope, and triumph through his non-profit organization and his book "Keep Climbing."
